

Transforming Care

(a national plan for changing services in England)

The Big Plan for Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland 2016 to 2019

What is Transforming Care about?

PANORAMA

- In 2012, a TV programme showed people with learning disabilities being treated very badly at Winterbourne View Hospital
- An investigation took place and the hospital was closed down.
- The Government set up the Winterbourne View Improvement Programme to make sure these bad things did not happen again. This is now called the Transforming Care Programme.
- It is about making sure that care is safe and helps people to have the best life they can have.
- It is about homes instead of hospitals.

What the Government said

Winterbourne View:

- ✗ Not person centred
- ✗ People living too far from home
- ✗ No outcomes
- ✗ Expensive care
- ✗ Institutional
- ✗ Poor communication between agencies

Transforming Care:

- ✓ Person centred
- ✓ Local care
- ✓ Outcomes are important
- ✓ Value for money
- ✓ In the community
- ✓ Joint working between all partners

People should be able to get support close to home

People should only go into hospital when they need treatment

People who do not need to be in a hospital must be supported to move back into the community as quickly as possible

Nobody should be in a hospital longer than they need to be there

People who do need to be in hospital must be safe at all times

What the Transforming Care Plan says

- It is a 3 year national plan to improve support for people who challenge services.
- It is a plan for people with a learning disability. Some people may have autism and some may have poor mental health.
- There are too many specialist hospitals and too many people are still in hospital.
- More people should be supported to have good lives in the community.
- The money spent on services for people with learning disabilities should be used differently to make sure there is good support to help people stay well in the community.
- There must be joint up working between Health and Social Care, people who provide services and people with learning disabilities and their family carers.

What is happening in Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland

- We have a Transforming Care Programme for our area.
- We have written a plan that shows how we will change things to make sure there is good support in the community that helps people with learning disabilities and their family carers to have better lives.
- Our partners who are helping us to make the plan happen are people with learning disabilities, family carers, organisations who buy plan and buy services and organisations who provide services and support.
- There is a Transforming Care Partnership Board that meets once a month to make sure the work is happening.

What our plan tells us?

- Who is in a specialist hospital.
- How people with behaviours that challenge are supported at the moment
- How we will change the way that people with behaviours that challenge are supported.
- What services we will change and how we will do that.
- How we will plan and buy new services to offer better support that is closer to people's families.

Our big ideas

1. We have a small Outreach Team that works 5 days a week to support people with behaviours that challenge to stay in the community.

- From April 2016 the team will be bigger and also work on weekends and in the evenings.

- More people will get support to help them stay well in the community. The team will also support in hospital to get back into the community as quickly as possible.

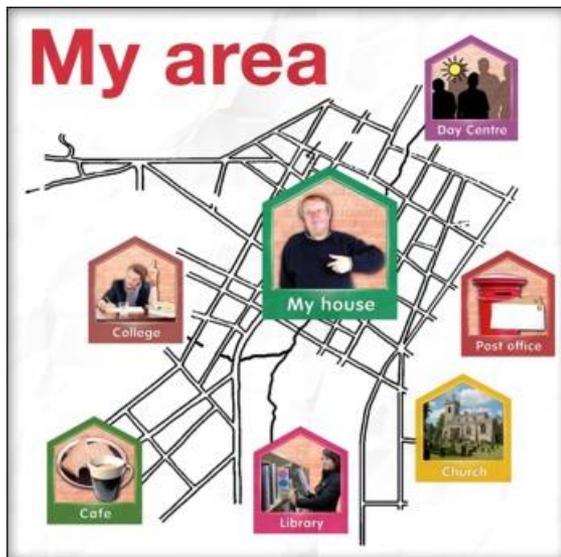

- This will help us to close 4 hospital beds on the Agnes Unit.

Our big ideas

2. We will spend less money on hospitals and more money on services and support in the community.

- We will work with providers to develop services that can offer people support and a place to stay when they leave hospital. This will help them to get used to being in the community.
- The providers will also be able to support people who might be at risk of going into hospital. This will help people to stay in the community instead of going into hospital.
- This is called a Step Through Service.

Our big ideas

3. We will offer better support, advice and information to carers. This will help carers to do the things they want to do. It will also help them to carry on caring for their loved ones at home if they want to .

- We will listen to carers and involve them more in planning local services and support.
- The short break services (respite) we offer will be improved so there is more choice and so that they are affordable.
- People will be able to buy short break services using their personal health budget. This already happens for people using a social care personal budget.
- The new types of service will be available in 2017.

Our other ideas

- More people will be supported to use personal budgets
- The Specialist Autism Service will be bigger and provide more ongoing support.
- Health facilitators will work with community groups to help people understand more about their health needs and how to keep well.
- There will be good local services and opportunities in the community.
- We will work with children's service to get a better understanding of young peoples needs as they become adults.

What happens next

- We need to keep telling NHS England how we are doing with our plans.
- We will update people through the Learning Disability Partnership Boards and through the service user and carers reference group.
- We will work with providers to look at the type of services and the types of staff we need now and in the future.
- We will work with our finance teams to understand how we each organisation will need to use the money they spend on learning disabilities in a different way.
